

Document Citation

Title	Short flashes
Author(s)
Source	Publisher name not available
Date
Type	article
Language	English
Pagination
No. of Pages	1
Subjects
Film Subjects	Rio Grande, Ford, John, 1950

short flashes

"Rio Grande," John Ford's initial production for Republic, opening..... at the..... Theatre, marks the eighth time that Ford and John Wayne worked together. The first time was in 1928 when Wayne played a bit role in the Ford-directed "Salute." Other pictures they have made together include, "Stagecoach," "The Long Voyage Home," "They Were Expendable," "Fort Apache," "Three Godfathers" and "She Wore a Yellow Ribbon."

* * *

"Rio Grande," John Ford's initial production for Republic which opened yesterday at the..... Theatre, marks the second time that Maureen O'Hara, who stars with John Wayne in the film, has worked with John Ford. The first time was in 1942 when Ford directed "How Green Was My Valley," for which he won his third Academy Award.

* * *

J. Carroll Naish, who is Irish by birth, has played characters of practically every other nationality on the screen, including Italians, Indians, Greeks, Jews and Mexicans, but for the first time portrays an Irishman in "Rio Grande," John Ford's initial production for Republic now playing at the..... Theatre. He portrays General Philip Sheridan in the story of the U.S. Cavalry in 1875.

* * *

Harry Carey, Jr., son of the famous late western star, has a stellar role as a young Cavalryman of early America in "Rio Grande," John Ford's initial production for Republic opening..... at the..... Theatre. John Wayne, Maureen O'Hara, Ben Johnson, Claude Jarman, Jr., and Chill Wills also appear, with J. Carroll Naish, Victor McLaglen and Stan Jones featured.