Amores Perros / Love's a Bitch (Mexico, 2001, Drama, 35mm, 135 min.)

Director: Alejandro Gonzales Iñarritu

Mexico's entry in this year's Foreign-Language Film Oscar contest, follows three different sets of characters who are momentarily connected by a car crash in downtown Mexico City. Dogs, another connecting factor, reflect the torment of their masters and their inability to distinguish between love and hate. The lurid subject matter of murder, adultery, car crashes, rat infestations, bank robbery and dog fights is a post modern view of contemporary Mexico.
