SYNOPSIS :

Once upon a time there was a young couple living in Paris. A quiet, uneventful love affair... Antoine, a printer, is jealous of his lovely wife, whose flirtatiousness is perhaps unwitting. He loves Antoinette. Antoinette, a salesgirl, is pretty and she knows it. She is gentle and proud, and has experienced the problems of life at an early enough age to understand them. She loves Antoine. There is room for the unexpected, for dreaming, within their well-planned, happy lives. But sometimes dreams are not so far removed from drama...
