- Synopsis: Acclaimed director Trinh T. Minh-ha's SHOOT FOR THE CONTENTS is a visually exquisite excursion into the maze of allegorical naming and storytelling in China. Her film reflects on issues of power and change, politics and culture, the creative process of filmmaking, and representation of historic events, as refracted by the incidents at Tiananmen Square. This poetic meditation on form and content explores color, rhythm and the shifting relationship between ear and eye; all unfolding like a traditional Chinese opera.
- Trinh T. Minh-ha is a writer, teacher, and composer, whose previous film work includes SURNAME VIET GIVEN NAME NAM, and NAKED SPACES: LIVING IS ROUND. For her work in SHOOT FOR THE CONTENTS, she was given the Best Cinematography Award at the Sundance Film Festival.
