KAPO

NEW YORK HERALD TRIBUNE – Judith Crist

"There can be no doubt that the physical, spiritual and moral horrors of the Nazi concentration camps must be remembered unto the fifth – nay, the tenth and twentieth and thousandth generation. A knowledge of the holocaust is the burden modern man must bear and reminders thereof cannot be too frequent, however painful they may be.

KAPO brings us a time and place of tragedy in authentic and soul-wracking detail that is almost too painful to follow - - - -

A RUTHLESS PRESSURE ON THE EMOTIONS "

NEW YORK WORLD TELEGRAM AND SUN – William Pepper

"A harrowing and uncompromising look at the dreadful existence in a camp for political prisoners and criminals."

NEW YORK TIMES – Bosley Crowther

"Director Gillo Pontecorvo achieves a vivid communication of the hideous of a Nazi camp. He hits the viewer in the eye with the torments of death and degradation."

'ELECTRIFYING'

CUE MAGAZINE

"Not since the Polish "The Last Stop" have we had so grimly realistic and harrowing a drama."
